03 Ready to install?

Download Gridinsoft Anti-Malware for Windows. The official page starts the download and offers a retry link if it doesn’t begin. If you already have the installer, go straight to the installation guide.

01 Which installer do I need?

- Web installer. For a Windows PC with an internet connection, use the web installer. Save the file, then keep the PC online while setup retrieves the program files.
- Full installer. If you need to transfer the setup package to another PC, download the full installer. Plan for an internet connection on the destination PC when you activate the product or update its threat database.

02 Check the file before opening it

Open your browser's downloads list and choose the option to show the file in its folder. Right-click the file, choose Properties → Digital Signatures, select the Gridinsoft publisher entry and open Details. Windows should report that the signature is valid.

If the signature is missing or invalid, or Windows or your antivirus blocks the file, stop and follow the installer warning guide. Keep the exact warning message so Support can identify what blocked the download.

03 Ready to install?

Check the Windows system requirements if you have an older PC or limited storage. To run the verified file and start your first scan, follow Install Gridinsoft Anti-Malware.
