Gridinsoft Anti-Malware is a commercial Windows security product with a free six-day full trial. The trial does not require a credit card and is intended to let you scan the PC, clean detected threats, and evaluate the available real-time protection before buying a license.

01 What the free trial includes

- On-demand malware scanning and cleanup.
- Quarantine for isolated detections.
- Available real-time protection modules.
- Threat List updates during the evaluation period.
- Technical support.

The app shows the current trial status and expiration date. Trial eligibility is controlled by the application and account and cannot be repeatedly reset on the same installation.

02 What happens after six days?

When the trial expires, the app returns to the functionality allowed by its current license status. You can still review the status shown in the application, but an active paid license is required to continue using premium cleanup and protection features.

Plans, device coverage, term length, price, and renewal conditions can change. Review them on the checkout page before purchasing rather than relying on an old screenshot or third-party offer.

03 How to start the trial safely

1. Download the installer from the official Gridinsoft Anti-Malware page.
2. Install and open the current signed version.
3. Follow the trial prompt shown by the application.
4. Update the Threat List and run a scan.

For the complete activation procedure, see How to get your free Gridinsoft Anti-Malware trial.

04 Free trial versus free online tools

The six-day trial applies to the installed Windows application. Gridinsoft also provides separate free online tools for checking a website, domain, email, or file. Those browser-based checks do not install Anti-Malware and do not replace a full scan of the Windows computer.

05 Avoid fake free keys and modified installers

No third-party “lifetime free key,” key generator, crack, or repacked installer is legitimate. Such downloads commonly carry malware or steal license and account information. Use only official Gridinsoft pages and never post a complete license key in a forum, screenshot, or support message.

06 Do I have to enter payment details for the trial?

No credit card is required to start the six-day trial. Buying a paid license is a separate action. Review the order summary and renewal terms before completing a purchase.
